EVENTS AT HOME AND ABROAD.

The Doings of the Government Officials—Crimes and Casualties and Other Notes of General Interest.

The President's Southern Trip.

President Roosevelt concluded a strenuous day in Alabama by a two hours visit to Birmingham, where his reception, in keeping with those given him at Montgomery and Tuskegee, was hearty and soul-stirring. His day began at 7 o'clock when the special train left Montgomery for Tuskegee. Visits to the Tuskegee normal and industrial institute and to the Methodist female college were crowded into a little less than two hours and the noon hour had just arrived when the executive stepped from his car in Montgomery. In the evening he visited Birmingham.

President Roosevelt spent seven hours in and around Little Rock, Ark. He made two addresses, in one of which he denounced lynching and in doing so elicited hearty applause. The grounds and buildings of the garrison at Big Rock were visited and a salute of 21 guns was fired. The president had a guard of honor composed of 12 union army veterans, headed by Col. A. S. Fowler, and 12 former confederates, headed by former Gov. Ban W. Jones. They rode in pairs, each former confederate by the side of a federal army veteran.

The president ended his southern tour at New Orleans, where he received an ovation. He boarded the lighter Magnolia and was transferred later to the cruiser West Virginia. For four days he will be absent from American soil, which has never heretofore happened to a president during his incumbency.

The first accident to mar President Roosevelt's southern trip occurred when the lighthouse tender Magnolia, with the president on board, collided with the fruit steamer Esparta, near Natchez, La. Both vessels went aground, but no person was seriously injured. The government revenue cutter Ivy went to the rescue of the president and took the entire party off the stranded vessel and proceeded down the river, putting them aboard the West Virginia.

CRISIS IS IMMINENT.

Russian Regime Seems to Be Tottering to Its Fall.

Czar, Surrounded by Imperial Family, Remains Shut Up at Peterhof, Hesitating As To What Course To Pursue.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 30.—While the day passed quietly, without bloodshed in the Russian capital, and while the city is outwardly calm, the day's developments all indicate that a crisis is imminent. Although the streets are filled with troops and reinforcements are now pouring in from Finland, the government seems utterly powerless to cope with the situation and many calm observers seem seriously to believe that the present regime is tottering to its fall.

Differences have developed between Count Witte and Gen. Trepoff, and while the precious moments pass the emperor, surrounded by the imperial family, remains shut up at Peterhof, seemingly still hesitating as to what course to pursue.

A meeting of the Municipal league was held at which a deputation of 30 members of the strikers' committee appeared. In an impassioned speech the leader of the deputation presented the following demands of the workmen and affiliated organizations:

First—A constitution and political liberty.

Second—That the city furnish food to the workmen.

Third—That the city refuse further supplies to the troops and the police.

Fourth—That the troops be removed from the water works or otherwise the strikers would cut the water supply.

Fifth—The immunity of the deputation from arrest.

The foreign embassies have discussed the situation, but have as yet taken no steps regarding the safety of foreign residents. As a precaution the state department at Washington has been requested to confer authority for the charter of a vessel and to hoist on it the American flag as a refuge for Americans.

The situation can not well be exaggerated. With the present indecision of the emperor the government has neither a head nor a policy to meet the crisis and things seem to be drifting towards anarchy. The revolutionists openly declare that the government has ceased to exist and that nothing remains to his majesty except to abdicate. With a firm hand at the helm and a rational policy, however, all might quickly be changed.

THE AMERICAN ARMY.

Annual Report of Gen. Ainsworth, the Military Secretary.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Maj. Gen. F. C. Ainsworth, the military secretary, in his second annual report devotes considerable attention to desertions from the army.

Gen. Ainsworth says the actual strength of the entire military establishment June 30, last, was 3,800 officers and 57,433 enlisted men in the regular army, 26 officers and 550 enlisted men in the Porto Rico provisional regiment of infantry, and 106 officers and 5,029 enlisted men in the Philippine scouts, making a total of 3,934 officers and 63,022 enlisted men. The maximum strength of the regular army, not including the hospital corps, is now fixed by executive order at 60,475 enlisted men.

The losses in the regular army during the fiscal years were: Officers killed in action or died of wounds, disease, etc., 24; resigned or discharged, 20; dismissed, 13; deserted, 3; retired, 59; total, 119.

Enlisted men killed in action or died of wounds, disease, etc., 377; discharged upon expiration of term of service, 22,354; discharged for disability, by sentence of court-martial and by order, 9,400; deserted, 6,533; retired, 189; total, 38,813.
